The Goddard Space Flight Center Systems Engineering Seminar is a forum targeted to the GSFC Systems Engineering community, but is open to the public including foreign nationals.

Goddard has facilities to record, archive, and broadcast the Systems Engineering Seminar talks, allowing a larger audience to participate in these presentations.

I Zachary Manchester, invited speaker for the Goddard Engineering Colloquium, understand that my talk will be videotaped, electronically recorded, videocast live within NASA, and the electronic archive and videocast made available to the world public over the World Wide Web. Sensitive or export restricted information will not be included in this presentation.
